PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Quilters,

Moving into summer, I am always at a loss for which thing to work on next. It is about now that I start deciding which quilts I want to enter into the next year's show. And I always have more work in progress than I can either finish in a timely fashion, OR that can be accepted by the Tucson show committee.

So, among other things, I procrastinate, and my mind turns to finishing and donating... the pillowcases that are already pinned, the Small Quilt Auction, Quilt-a-Thon in August, Quilt for a Cause. So many worthy causes!

When I came to quilting, I had no idea of the tradition of charity in the quilting community. The more I learn, the more I am amazed and impressed by the numbers of quilts that are made and the people who are comforted by them. I love making the quilts which will be given to someone who needs them, without worrying about time crunches, picky judges, or then deciding what to do with a quilt after its first show.

Making pieces that will automatically have a home as soon as I send them out my door is always gratifying. They refresh my spirit, and give me a boost for moving on to the more complicated quilts I also enjoy making. I think doing both helps keep me in balance and definitely brings me a lot of joy.

Finally, joy is a big part of what quilting is about for me. It brings me joy. I can give someone else some joy when a quilt brings some brightness to a drab life.

So as our Tucson summer heats up, and it's just too hot to be outside, grab some fabric and make a quilt! It's good for you!

Yours in Quilting,

Karen G. Fisher
President

JUNE PROGRAM

BELLA BELLA QUILTS

This month we welcome Norah McMeeking

Norah is an accomplished quilting teacher, presenter, and designer. Here is her story...

It was my destiny! I'm descended from printers, sign painters and seamstresses (in alternating generations!). As soon as I met a sewing machine in

Mrs. Regan's Home Ec. class, I was "hooked!" I started making my own clothes and doing the family mending. I studied Graphics at the Rhode Island School of Design and went to work in publishing and advertising.

When I moved to central Illinois I saw my first quilts on a visit to the Chicago Art Institute and knew I had to learn how to make them. My first teacher taught me to do everything by hand but I soon had two small children and my quilting output amounted to a small stack of blocks. Later on, in California, I discovered that some people made quilts with my old favorite, the sewing machine. I was shown a rotary cutter. I never looked back.

Now, when I'm up late quilting, alone at my machine, I think about my grandparents and how inevitable it was that I become a quilter. The perfect marriage of graphics and sewing - I am a happy woman.

Since 1991, I've taught quilt making for the adult education division of our wonderful community college in Santa Barbara. My students keep me on my toes because they come to class year after year and I want to provide new ideas and techniques for them. (Go to my Quilt Gallery to see some of my students' work). Consequently, I have studied practically every quilt making trend, fad, shortcut and technique. My personal interests are landscape quilts and challenging piecing. I've learned from other teachers at conferences, workshops, and quilt shows and will never stop appreciating the work of other quilters. Visit my links page to see some of the quilters I admire and those who have taught me.

In 2005, I got to write a book! C&T Publishing worked with me to produce Bella Bella Quilts: Stunning Designs from Italian Mosaics. I met some great artists and editors along the way and am so proud of the book we made together. More recently, I worked with C&T Publishing again and published a second book, Bella Bella Sampler Quilts.

One last thing you might want to know about me is that I lived in England for a while. That fantastic year exposed me to a textile environment sustained by centuries of needlework traditions. It was flat out exciting to be there and I felt like Cinderella at the Ball. I am eager to share what I learned there, through tours, lectures, and articles.

Norah will be offering a workshop on Thursday, June 13, 9 am-4:30 pm. This 1-Day workshop, St. Mark's Wall Hanging is based on the geometric design from the floors at St. Mark, it is a foundation pieced quilt.

Please note: There are only two spots open for Norah's Thursday Workshop. Please register online.

OPPORTUNITY BASKETS

Dear Quilters,

We are really excited about our Quilt Fiesta! This year we have many new ideas and would like to incorporate them into the show. We will be informing you throughout the summer to keep you up to date with our ideas and keep you abreast of the work involved in preparing for the show.

One project we are truly excited about is the Opportunity Baskets. This endeavor will be headed up by Karen Fisher. Just before the show, we intend to have a “basket making party” where we will ask for volunteers to help assemble the baskets (we are not asking you to provide a whole basket by yourself, unless you want to of course). Also, please it would be phenomenal if you are able visit your favorite shops and businesses and ask for donations for this project. This is an “evolving committee” so if you have some ideas that you think will benefit the project, please send them to Karen directly. We need your help to make this a success, please read on...

The Plan:

We will create a few baskets which will contain an assortment of fabulous goodies to be raffled off at our next show! We need your help to fill the baskets with cool stuff.

Donated items must be NEW: kits, books, fabric packets, patterns, tools, batting, thread, etc.

“NEW” means unopened packets of fat quarters, jelly rolls, charm packs, layer cakes, etc. I expect we have all made those impulse buys at a gorgeous booth, and the fabric never “becomes” what we might have hoped for. Kits and patterns are also acceptable, as long as they are complete and still in their packaging.

“Made” are not secondhand items but rather items that you might make and send as gifts, or sell at a craft fair. Small items only, such as coasters, hot pads, baskets and plate holders, pet toys, drink holders, placemats, etc. Please consider labeling your items to help give them a professional look.

Quilters like to read, too. I know there are whole assortments of “quilt” novels that could fit nicely with our baskets.

Not all items have to be quilt related—make a “guy” assortment, maybe a beauty/spa assortment, including services. Consider non-fabric items such as hand creams, candles, and nice soaps. All of us end up with dry skin from our quilting.

We will combine groups of items into baskets/containers. Containers could have a theme, and should include, on outside, list of contained items.

I plan to reach out to bees, and local shops to sponsor a basket. If not a whole basket, perhaps shops could donate gift certificates.

We will need baskets/containers for the actual presentations. You may also donate those: an actual basket, really pretty box, or a cool tote bag.

Kate says: Quilters love wine and chocolate too! So do visitors who don’t quilt or sew but enjoy the artistry involved in our passion. Also, I would also love to make a basket that Celebrates Tucson with tickets, discounts, and/or passes to the many places that are unique to Tucson. We will be right in the middle of the tourist season and I believe a lot of people would be pleased to win a basket of items that would help them enjoy their Tucson visit even more.

Please start collecting items and pass them along to Karen – she is willing to rent a barn to store everything until the show :) I suggested we have an Amish Barn Raising to help her out!

QUILT FOR A CAUSE

It was a beautiful evening for our opening reception for the Quilts in the Garden exhibit at the Tucson Botanical Gardens on May 10. The quilts were beautiful, the weather was perfect and the food was enjoyed by all. We sold 14 quilts that evening and have sold a total of 39 quilts since April 23. The quilts will be on display and for sale until September 29, 2019.

Thank you to Suzanne Irving for her work in putting up all the quilts and replacing those quilts that are sold with new ones. Also, thank you, Colleen Babcock, for working with the TBG staff in organizing this event. And thank you to everyone else who provided food, helped with set up, and saw that our guests had a lovely evening.

If you feel moved to donate a quilt, we need wall hanging sized quilts - 12"x12" up to 45"x50" - or lap quilts. Remember to fill out an entry form found on our website, www.quiltsforacause.org. You can turn in your quilt(s) at either of the guild meetings, or any of the quilt shops in Tucson and Sierra Vista, or call one of the QFaC board members.

We are planning our Silent Auction to be held at the Tucson Medical Center starting September 22 and continuing through to October 26. We plan to have

SMALL QUILT AUCTION

A new chairperson will be taking over for the Small Quilt Auction when she returns in the fall. In the meantime, your finished Small Quilts can be turned in to Karen Fisher. You can also turn in your Lamentables (pieces someone else may choose to finish and donate for the auction at our 2020 Quilt Fiesta.

MEMBERS-AT-LARGE COMMITTEE

Kimberly Votava (Evenings)
Shellie Whitman (Day)

Dear Members:

As your new Members-At-Large (MAL) we are committed to listening to your concerns - either personally or anonymously - and providing you with answers.

We are researching a website option for a MAL Menu that includes Frequently Asked Questions and a Search function. We will continue to provide feedback to your questions through all available options, including the newsletter and at meetings as appropriate.

Recent concerns have included:

PERFUME ALLERGIES

Question: I'm severely allergic, could something be said to the membership regarding overwhelming perfume?

Answer: Many of our fellow quilters have severe allergies. Please be considerate when attending our meetings. Allergies are serious and can be a life-threatening condition! We hope you'll defer wearing perfume until after the meeting so as not to impair a fellow quilter, dear friends, or our guest speaker. Thank you in advance!

QUILT SHOW JUDGING

Question: "I would like to bring up the judging process to the Quilt Show Committee. It seems like the same judges and the same evaluation sheet have been used for several years.

Has the Quilt Show Committee considered alternative perspectives or updating the forms? The evaluation sheet has been in use for many years. It could be revised to expand the judges opinion of the work. There are four categories and on several of the scores, they selected a level and used a "+" to expand the score. If the judge is not willing to use the levels listed, they should be expanded. As an example, the criteria is scored as "average +" or "very good +", so it leaves the quilter wondering why not "very good" or "excellent".

Answer: Over the last ten years the Tucson Quilt Show has hosted eleven different judges. We have employed several of them multiple times for a couple of significant reasons. Our goal is to use NACQJ (National Association of Certified Quilt Judges). There are only two in Arizona certified by NACQJ, and only about six certified in the entire southwest region. We continually learn from our experiences, and we have experienced judges in prior years who were too critical or too "judgy". In such cases, those judges have not been invited back. We try to rotate judges so they don't judge for our show in consecutive years. We considered hiring judges from other regions, but their travel costs would exceed our budget. The certified judges have very specific criteria they follow and they strive to be as objective as possible.

The Quilt Show Committee is considering a revised, simplified form. Our biggest challenge with the judging process is the time allotted to judge. The judges are only given approximately three minutes per quilt to thoroughly examine all aspects of work presented. They do provide an overall impression and do express observations on each quilt. Unfortunately, it is unlikely the judges can do a more expansive or detailed "opinion" of a quilt given the time they have with each quilt.

For more information about the National Association of Certified Quilt Judges visit them online at www.nacqj.com.

QUILT SHOW BOOKMARKS/ADS

Question: "I suggest that the Quilt Show Committee have bookmarks and ads for the next quilt show ready in May so that people who travel in the summer can take them to other quilt shops they visit. Lots of people from other states come here in the winter."

Answer: Thank you for your suggestion! Your suggestion has been forwarded to the Quilt Show Committee. There are many decisions that have to be made before anything is ready for print.

MORE GUILD NEWS

ARIZONA QUILT DOCUMENTATION PROJECT

June
Tucson Region
By Sue Franklin

April was a busy month for the Tucson Team. On April 6th, at the Public Documentation held at the Arizona History Museum, the team documented 22 quilts. The quilts ranged from a lovely circa 1850 Whig Rose/Tulips Candelabra quilt to a newly made gorgeous red and white Feathered Star, crafted by Guild member Anne Marie Stegen that she called Joy. Of course, there were many other treasures shared. A 91year old woman brought a beautiful Postage Stamp quilt with 3564 squares, that information was embroidered in a corner of the back. A Diamond Field quilt made in the 1930s used hexagons to good advantage and also beautifully illustrated the colors of the period.

It's fun to see a quilt that's dated. We had that opportunity with a beautiful red and white Friendship quilt, dated 1925 in two places. The makers used penny squares, common in the latter part of the 19th century and also in the early part of the 20th century. The same owner brought a tied Tailor Swatch quilt made by an ancestor. These swatches came from samples sent to the tailor so he might choose his fabrics before ordering.

We had a couple of Crazies, too. One from the collection of the Arizona History Museum and the other from a private quilt owner. They were very different. The Museum's was a contained Crazy, meaning the irregular pieces were placed in a block format.

The pieces were silk, velvet, and more traditional. The second also was contained, but later fabrics and stitched together with a feather stitch.

"Modern" also was documented. A beautiful framed Saguaro Sunset, made all take a second look. The maker captured the feel of the desert beautifully. Sometimes, old patterns got a new look, like a Double Wedding Ring done in oranges and blues; definitely, non-traditional. Some of us saw a Quilt as You Go for the first time. A favorite was a quilt of deep pink and white squares, where in the center of each light square, a beautiful Colonial Lady was placed. Her dresses were appliqued from dresses made for the owner when a child. The ladies wore beautifully embroidered hats and carried fans, also with lovely embellishments. There were other wonderful quilts; that's the fun of a Public Documentation!

At the April documentation meeting, Sue offered the Continuing Education program. She chose The Continuing Story of Goldie Tracy Richmond. Quilts documented include: Bea Kabler's Roses are Red, Peggy Hazard's Eastern Star, and Sue's The Rodeo Quilt.

There was no May documentation meeting. The next documentation meeting will be Monday, June 3, at Ellie Towne Community Center. The continuing ed program will be "Feedsacks and quilts and other items made from them." More about that next time.

The next Public Documentation is November 9, 2019 at the Arizona History Museum. Please contact either Kate Clark at 520-742-1000 or Sue at 520-490-4721 if you'd like to be put on the list.

All are welcome to visit our meetings! We love guests. For questions about either quilt documentation or joining the team, please contact Tucson liaisons Sue Franklin at 520-490-4721 or suevette63@comcast.net or Terry Gryzb-Wysocki at 520-749-9326 or terry-gw@mindspring.com. New team members are welcome. Monthly training sessions are held from 9:30 am-12:30 pm at the Ellie Towne Flowing Wells Community Center on Ruthrauff Rd. The next documentation session is May 13. Information about quilt documentation teams throughout Arizona may be obtained from Lynn Miller, 480-202-1230 or azquilt doc@yahoo.com. Lynn also needs people familiar with the computer to aid her with data entry for the Quilt Index. Lynn does distance training which takes about two hours.

Pattern of the Month - June 2019

"Cherry Block"

A design by Val Hintze

Cherries-sweet and simple!

This pattern is offered as a Block of the Month (BOM). Each block you make and turn in offers you a chance to win all of the blocks to make your own Cherry quilt.

No sewing is required. Instead, use lightweight Heat 'n Bond® following manufacturer's instructions, the pattern pieces provided, and a few of your fabric scraps (red, green, and brown). Prepare pieces arranged on an 8" x 8" square of White fabric in the manner shown in the photo below, then press in place. Your block is finished! Winners of the blocks will add decorative stitches to finish their Cherry quilt.

Have fun doing your block and remember, each block you turn in increases your chances to win all the blocks. Drawings for the blocks will held in July at the Tuesday night and Wednesday morning meetings.
